

Stephen O'Bryan

Corporate Vice President and
Global Business Development Officer
Northrop Grumman

Stephen O'Bryan is corporate vice president and Global Business Development Officer for Northrop Grumman Corporation.

O'Bryan is responsible for the business development organization and enabling the company's international growth strategy.

O'Bryan joined Northrop Grumman from Boston Consulting Group. From 2018 to 2019, he was senior vice president and chief global business development officer for L3Harris Technologies. Prior to this, O'Bryan worked for Lockheed Martin, from 2004 to 2018, where he led numerous senior strategy and business development organizations, including F-35, Rotary and Mission Systems and Corporate International. He served with the U.S. Navy as an F/A-18 pilot and Top Gun Graduate.

O'Bryan holds a bachelor's degree from Colgate University and a Master of Business Administration from Southern Methodist University.

Northrop Grumman is a leading global aerospace and defense technology company. Our pioneering solutions equip our customers with the capabilities they need to connect and protect the world, and push the boundaries of human exploration across the universe. Driven by a shared purpose to solve our customers' toughest problems, our 95,000 employees define possible every day.